Dear Evelyn -

I want to express my deepest sympathy to you and to the family during this sad period.

Larry was one of my favorite people. He was always up beat - never failing to give those around him a lift - regardless of how tough the going might be.

I know how close he was to you and how much you will miss him. You can take great comfort in the fact that no man ever had a more loyal and devoted wife.

Sincerely
Dick.

MEMORANDUM FOR BOB HALDEMAN

FROM THE PRESIDENT

I have a delicate matter which I would like for you to work out with regard to John Mitchell. When I offered our Florida place to them I did not realize that Julie and David plan to go down there for the week before Christmas which is the first time he will have off after his intensive indoctrination at Newport. Under the circumstances, I would like for you to get ahold of Bebe and see if he can arrange for them to have a really good villa at Key Biscayne. I know that is where Martha wants to go and she is always bugging us because she says they never give them a good villa. Bebe should use all the weight he possibly can to get this villa for them. Once that is done then you can call John and tell him of the mix-up and express our regrets.

You can also tell him that if they are there before Julie and David arrive or are there after they leave that we want them to use our beach facilities -- something Bebe will always be ready to arrange.

Dear Rose,

I had heard indirectly that H. Freeman was no longer making clothes for the President, and I wanted to let you know that we would be delighted to make them for him. Modestly, naturally, we do even a better job than anybody and can make his custom shirts too.

If he would like a crack at what we can do, let me know and I'll make the arrangements for our people to come measure him.

We've had a tight one here in Tennessee, and I hope that it comes off good tomorrow! The President's visit here helped a whole lot! It pulled in a lot of independents I am sure that are really for him and not necessarily Brock. There is always a lot of coattail riding I guess.

Warmest personal regards,

Sincerely,

Miss Rose Mary Woods
Office of the President
The White House
Washington, D. C.

Dear Rose Mary:

A good friend of mine, Robert H. Kenmore, who is Chairman of the Board of the Kenton Corporation, spoke to me about an idea he has, which I would like to pass on to you.

The Kenton Corporation owns the famous jewelry house of Cartier, Mark Cross, Ben Kahn Furriers, Georges Kaplan, Kenneth J. Lane, the jeweler; and Valentino, the couturier. He runs an extremely profitable operation, headquartered in New York City.

Sometime in 1971 in the Chevy Chase area outside Washington, a center will have been completed which will house a very exclusive shopping area composed primarily of these stores, like Cartier, owned by the Kenton Corporation. There will be 33,000 square feet of retail selling space and parking to accommodate 340 cars.

Architects are Nottingham & Associates of Arlington, Virginia, and the interiors are being done by Gae Aulenti of Milan, Italy.

The new center is across the street from Lord & Taylor, Woodward & Lothrop, Saks Fifth Avenue in one of the top areas in Chevy Chase.

The Kenton Corporation, which is listed on the American Stock Exchange, had sales of $100-million and earnings of $2.5 million last year.

Mr. Kenmore, the Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, is interested in retaining Miss Tricia Nixon as a consultant to his firm, specifically to advise them on this new center in Chevy Chase. Should Miss Nixon be interested, he would agree, in writing, that there would be no publicity whatsoever, no announcements and no photographs of her involvement. Any statements, if any were desired - and none are desired necessarily by the Kenton Corporation - would come through the White House.

Mr. Kenmore is interested in Miss Nixon strictly for one purpose - he believes she can probably tell him more about the buying habits of young people in the Washington area than most other persons. He wants to know how to approach the young Washington market in design, in products, in potential customer groups.

Should Miss Nixon be interested, the price would be open, and I imagine we would have to get together to discuss this matter further.

Mr. Kenmore, again, is not interested in the publicity or the use of the Nixon name. On both these issues, I want to make this clear. However, he does feel she is in a prime position to know the market better than anyone else.

Perhaps you could suggest some way for us to find out whether this would be of interest to you and whether we should get together. I will look forward to receiving your good advice.

As always,

My dear Mr. President:

It was indeed a privilege and an honor to be your guest at dinner as one of such a small group. I greatly appreciated having the opportunity to hear you discuss your plans.

While it was kind of you to suggest that the dinner was to express your appreciation for our support, I join with your other guests in saying that what we would like most is the opportunity to serve you and the Party to the utmost of our ability. We will continue to consult with each other as to how this might be done.

The dinner was superb and the wine - may I say that your choice of claret was super-superior. I have never tasted a finer wine.

With regard to the Ohio situation, I think your suggestion of inviting a number of the loyal and active leaders around the State would greatly stimulate their interest and their potential.

I mentioned this to Chappie Rose and he applauded the idea.

Sincerely,

Kent H. Smith

He wanted you to be assured that your correspondence and enclosed letter to the President had been received.

Dear Mr. Haldeman:

At the suggestion of Herbert Kalmbach, I am sending the enclosed letter to President Nixon via you.

I have left the envelope unsealed so that you may read it.

The dinner was on the evening of November 18, with the Attorney General and four other guests.

I am also writing the Attorney General, since he discussed with me some of the problems that might result from Bob Taft's haste in trying to restructure the Party in Ohio.

Sincerely,

Kent H. Smith
