Mazzocco, if he were the new Inspector General. He is very similar to George Spangenberg in that neither is a "hatchetman" but both are dedicated, objective individuals who hate to see our Government get cheated. Again, Mazzocco is "appolitical" insofar as I am able to tell. But, it would seem to me that a minimum of politics should be involved in such a position as the Inspector General of the State Department.

3. Daniel Cohen Dan is an economist whose expertise is primarily in the area of finances, financial review (re: AID) and price analysis. (I am attaching both Cohen's and Mazzocco's resumes to this memo.) Vern Duffy from our staff started to work with Cohen earlier this year in preparation for our hearings on AID--actually it was early in 1967. He turned out to be a crack investigator, very intelligent, and very similar to Mazzocco for his concern re: the waste in the AID program. Cohen has been a Republican all his life and I have known this for at least a year. Cohen testified a couple of times during our hearings, very much against what Poats and others had been saying. He is not too popular in the Agency, understandably, but he has a permanent GS-15 so that he cannot be displaced too easily. He would make a very able assistant on a State Department I.G. staff although he has some interest in going with the Federal Trade Commission.

Narcotics

l. Martin Pera - During thedays when we were developing the information for our Subcommittee hearings concerning the illicit trafficking of narcotics to this country, we were promised complete cooperation by then-Commissioner Giaordano but when we went out into the field, we found varying degrees of response to the Commissioner's statement--as cabled out to the various posts around the world. Pera was stationed at our Embassy in Rome, Italy and Jerry and I got more information from him than from practically all of the rest of the agents at the other locations. Pera is very intelligent, speaks French fluently, and is a chemist by profession. He is a Republican and he got so upset at the political games that were being played under the Democratic Administration that he left the Bureau of Narcotics and went to work with the Navy in the technical field of counter-electronic devices. (He is a chemist by profession). Marty is doing well where he is, and undoubtedly will be offered a good position in industry when he leaves the Navy, as a civilian, after his retirement. However, he would do a good job if he went back into the Bureau and he is submitting some separate information, under separate cover, as to the problems that his sources in the Bureau are finding--particularly as they affect

Dear Rose:

It was great seeing you last night - you looked wonderful and it was fun being with you.

I am taking advantage of your offer to who were funnel odds and ends through you until you tell me otherwise.

The memos enclosed speak for themselves.

I'd like to mention to you again that
Dan Lufkin, in my opinion, would be interested in joining the Commerce Department, SEC or a related field. As you know, he is 37 years old and has been brilliantly successful. Also, he is completely devoted to the boss. I think he would make a wonderful addition to the new administration.

Rose, don't forget to tell the boss that all of us would love to have him back on the Floor at such time as he finds it propitious.

I also told you last night that I would love to be on a Business Advisory group if the boss decides to have one. I am a member of the Business Advisory Committee for Nixon-Agnew (Barry Leithead's committee).

One more thing, Rose - you mentioned 1970 elections to me last night when I talked in terms of getting ready for 1972. Please let me know what you want done as soon as you are ready. My gang and I are anxious to help.

A million thanks for all this help. I'd be absolutely lost without it.

Look forward to seeing you again very soon.

Love.

Dear Len:

Pursuant to your recent invitation and at the suggestion of my old friend, Mrs. Nancy Reynolds, a sister of Mary Reynolds Babcock and a co-Director with me on the Mary Reynolds Babcock Foundation Board, I am enclosing information concerning her son, Smith Bagley, who was an unsuccessful Democratic candidate for Congress from North Carolina in the last election. Incidentally, Smith made a fine race of it and received the support of an overwhelming proportion of the negro voters in his district. Details with respect to his past experience and qualifications are fully set forth in the enclosed memorandum and the printed campaign brochure.

For myself, I should like to add that Smith makes his home in Winston-Salem, North Carolina, where he is a most respected and influential member of the business and social community. He is 33 years old, very attractive personally, and public spirited and exceptionally able as well. In answer to my direct question, Mrs. Reynolds indicated to me that Smith's interest might lie in appointive office in the area of protocol. My own feeling is that his special qualifications might very well equip him for what I should, perhaps, realistically refer to as one of the lesser ambassadorships or, very possibly, an important assignment in the Peace Corps. He is an exceptional young man, interested in dedicating his very definite talents and means to public service. Certainly, he is the sort of person this country should encourage to make an active career in government. I unhesitatingly recommend his as a name which should be on your list. If anything emerges from this now or later, I should appreciate it if you would keep me posted when you can.

Sincerely,

MCR:sm Enclosures; 2, as above White.

HISTORY IN REPUBLICAN PARTY

Upon retiring from military service in 1961, Senator Smoak returned to his native State of South Carolina to practice law and work for the establishment of an effective two party system. He became the first local Republican candidate in his County. In 1964, he polarized enough support to gain 49.2% of the vote while running as the only local Republican on the slate. He organized a full slate of legislative candidates and led them successfully to victory in 1966, in a second campaign which he again had largely financed himself.

He participated fully in the campaign of Congressman

Albert Watson, who switched parties and ran as a Republican in 1965, to the extent of bringing Senator Barry Goldwater, a personal friend, to South Carolina to give Watson support and lead a rally in his honor.

In the South Carolina Senate, he has consistently fought the state Democrat machine. He made twelve major speeches during the 1968 session, and engaged in three filibusters, speaking on one occasion for ten hours. He was designated by the Democratic regime as one of two most dangerous Republican office-holders. It is reliably reported that his opponent spent in excess of $150,000 and this combined with the Wallace "backlash" culminated in his apparent defeat.

GENERAL BACKGROUND

After fourteen months in the South West Pacific with the Americal Division, he returned to the United States and became an instructor at the United States Military Academy, West Point, New York for four years. Accepting a regular commission, he held, among others, the following assignments:

Assistant Executive to the Judge Advocate General
Department of Defense, Legislative Liaison Division
Department of the Army, Legislative Drafting Division
Staff Judge Advocate of:

Berlin Command, Germany
Camp Crawford, Japan
82nd Airborne Division
11th Airborne Division
Fort Campbell, Kentucky

Upon retiring from the service in the grade of Lt. Colonel in 1941, Senator Smoak returned to South Carolina to engage in the active practice of law and to enter politics as a Republican. He has participated fully as worker at all levels of state politics. As a candidate, he is knowledgeable, effective and a seasoned politician.

Senator Smoak is married to the former Frances Meister of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Smoak has continued civic work in Washington as a member of the Washington Heart Board and in South Carolina as a member of the State Heart Board. Two sons, Patrick and Frederick, attended St. Albans School in Washington and Culver Military Academy. Freddy will carry the South Carolina flag in the Inaugurel Parade as a member of Culver's Black Horse Troop. The Smoak family is composed of one additional member, Mary Frances, age six.

A Senior Parachutist in military service, Senator Smoak pursues his favorite hobby of horsemanship as a participating member of the Aiken Polo Club and by foxhunting at Potomac, Maryland and Aiken, South Carolina.

Subject:

Have been receiving quite a few applications for jobs. Bryce said to send sub-types to Harry, and the higher ones to you.

One who would like to be considered for a higher post is James Cross, Corporate Secretary of IDA, here in D.C.

His interests are: State (policy planning)
Navy (Asst., Deputy Under-Sec'y level) AEC (He was nominated for a vacancy (GOP) in June, but it was killed by the Democrats.)

As I remember, he was an Acting Assistant Secretary in the last part of the Eisenhower Administration.

GILBERT HAHN, JR. CHAIRMAN December 5, 1968

Mr. Peter Flanigan Office of the President-elect 450 Park Avenue New York, N. Y.

Dear Peter:

I am forwarding the resume of Mr. James E. Cross whom I would strongly recommend for consideration in a policy level job.

Mr. Cross' background would fit him for one of the following assignments:

Atomic Energy Commission - Commissioner
Department of State - Counselor's office
Policy level - Intelligence
Navy - sub-Cabinet rank

During the Campaign, Mr. Cross was D.C. Chairman of the Arts and Sciences Division for Mr. Nixon, and a substantial contributor on the local level.

I am personally interested in this case.

Sincerely yours,

Gilbert Hahn, Jr. Chairman

Jon 2 November 14, 1968 President-elect Richard M. Nixon 39th Floor-Pierre Hotel NOV 1 8 1968 New York City, New York Dear Mr. Nixon: In today's news appears the story saying you are launching a massive talent search to fill top jobs in your organization. I would suggest Erwin D. Canham as Ambassador to the United Nations. I know of no one who is better qualified to fill this position. He probably knows better than any one other person the problems of the many nations making up the U.N. He has visited most of the countries in the U.N., is known to their heads-of-state, and has been honored by many of these countries for his understanding of their problems. He is an eloquent speaker, a brilliant analyst, and is perhaps the best known newspaper editor in the world. Enclosed is the jacket of his book, Commitment to Freedom, (1958), giving biographical information about Mr. Canham. In the ten years since the publication of this book, Mr. Canham has added many outstanding achievements to his long list of accomplishments. One of these was serving as President of the United States Chamber of Commerce. I do not know whether Mr. Canham would be interested in the position, or whether The Christian Science Monitor would release him for it, but I do know that he could do a magnificent job in helping bring peace to the world. During the recent campaign I did everything possible to help in your nomination and election. At the time of the convention when T.V. interviews with the Missouri delegation indicated that they were to hold a caucus for the purpose of switching to Rockefeller, I got on the telephone and succeeded in getting over fifty people to wire the Missouri delegation urging them to stick to Nixon. These wires were read to the delegation and I am told they played a big part in holding the delegation in line for Nixon. I am telling you this so you may know that I am one of your ardent supporters and eager to see your administration a big success. Please accept my congratulations on the magnificent campaign which you waged to get the Republicans back in office. Respectfully, norma a Johnst Miss Norma A.
