Penn. Ave.
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mrs. Nixon,

Never having taken a step similar to this before, I am appealing to you as a woman, and mother of two lovely girls, to look into the situation surrounding the Equal Rights Amendment, that your husband has endorsed. I cannot believe, that after researching the legislation and reading Sen. Ervin's case, that you won't come to the same conclusions that most God fearing women, who are informed have, that this is an unnecessary and chaotic stand.

What kind of a heritage will we leave our families if this form of rights is imposed on us.

I beg you, if you even see this letter, to please find out for yourself what this piece of legislation really means.

But, most of all, the majority of women don't want it! A radical few are trying to impose their will on millions of others.

May God give you the wisdom and courage to put yourself in the place of the liberated and ask, "Is this what I want for my granddaughters?"

I think that the answer will be "no." And, I hope and pray that I am right. Someone has to listen to the majority. Maybe you will.

We are not backward and ignorant, we're worried! Gloria, & Bella & Betty are not our barometers, and I'm sure that they're not yours either.

Apprehensively,
Susan B. Tovey
