As "Hail to the Chief" is played, you will be escorted to the vicinity of the platform on the South Lawn. A few moments later, the car carrying President and Mrs. Lleras and Ambassador and Mrs. Mosbacher will pull up to the Diplomatic Entrance of the Residence. The Chief of Protocol will present President and Mrs. Lleras to you and Mrs. Nixon, and then to Secretary and Mrs. Rogers and Admiral and Mrs. Moorer.

Following the photographs, you will escort President Lleras, with him on your right, onto the Platform facing toward the Washington Monument. Mrs. Nixon and Mrs. Lleras will be escorted to a position on the lawn to the right of the platform.

The Commander of Troops, positioned in front of you, will bring the Honor Guard to Present Arms and salute. Following four ruffles and flourishes, the band will play the national anthems of Columbia and the United States, and a 21 gun salute will be fired simultaneously with the music.

Upon completion of honors, the Commander will give the troops Order Arms, salute and report, "Sir, the Honor Guard is formed".

You will then escort President Lleras (with him to your right) toward the band. The Commander of Troops will take position to the right of President Lleras and you, in turn, will be to the Commander's right.

The Commander will then guide the party through the inspection, beginning at the right of the band, passing along the front rank of troops to the left flank of the Honor Guard and then around the rear of the formation and back to the starting point at the right front of the band.

NOTE

When passing in front of the Colors, you and the inspection party will salute. Salutes will not be rendered when passing to the rear of the Colors.

The Commander of Troops will halt, salute, and report, "Sir, this completes the inspection." You will then escort President Lleras back onto the platform. The Commander of Troops will return to his post in front of the platform and will bring the Honor Guard to Present Arms. He and his staff will salute President Lleras. After bringing the Honor Guard to Order Arms, the Commander will salute you and report, "Sir, this concludes the ceremony."

THE WHITE HOUSE

THE PRESIDENT:

At 4:45 p.m. Congressman Edward J. Derwinski, His Holiness Catholicos Khoren I, Mr. George Mardikian, and an Armenian interpreter will be escorted into your office for a brief meeting.

This is a courtesy call and it is estimated that it will be of approximately 10 minutes duration, at the conclusion of which your guests will be escorted out.

NOTE

A White House photographer will be available to take pictures.

No remarks have been prepared or are required.

BACKGROUND

Catholicos Khoren I is the leader of the major Free World branch of the Armenian Orthodox Church, headquartered in Lebanon. As such, he is one of the two top leaders of this Church. His rival for leadership of the Armenian Church is headquartered in Soviet Armenia. Khoren does not recognize his legitimacy, and it can be assumed that Khoren's meeting with you today will help him in that rivalry.

Khoren I called on you in Washington in October 1957.

He is calling on you today at the request of Congressman Derwinski and President Helou of Lebanon.

The Vice President will host a luncheon for him.

He was previously scheduled to call on you in mid-May but was hospitalized in Boston due to exhaustion. You sent him a wire wishing him well.

His Holiness is in this country to visit his churches.

Mr. George Mardikian is Chairman of the National Reception Committee for Khoren's visit.

SUGGESTED TALKING POINTS:

- your concern for the Armenian community in this country and abroad.
- your deep concern about Lebanon and the Near East, emphasizing your interest in the political independence and territorial integrity of Lebanon and in a fair Arab-Israeli settlement.

SPECIAL NOTE:

- Dr. Kissinger is aware this meeting is taking place and sees no harm in it.

List of those accompanying His Holiness Khoren I on his visit to the White House on June 12, 1969.

In the meeting with the President:

Edward J. Derwinski, Congressman

His Holiness Khoren I, Leader of the Free World Branch of the Armenian Orthodox Church

H. Khatchadourian, Archbishop, Prelate of the Armenian Church

George Mardikian, Honorary Chairman of Reception Committee for His Holiness' Visit to the U. S.

Hratch A. Abrahamian, Dr., Armenian National Committee (Interpreter)

William E. Timmons, Deputy Assistant for Congressional Relations.

Not in the meeting with the President:

C. Babigian, Dr., Chairman of Prelacy Council

Leon P. Palian, Armenian National Committee

ARTHUR WHITTEMORE & JACK LOWE

The team of Whittemore and Lowe has achieved the pinnacle of prestige and popularity in the field of music. The number of great symphony orchestras with which they have played as soloists is one excellent indicator of the high esteem in which they are held. In addition, they have played on numerous radio programs and have pioneered the classics on television. They were the first classic instrumentalists to have their own daily television show. In the recording field, they are among the few classical performers to sell over one million records.

Whittemore and Lowe are the only soloists ever to have premiered two major concertos with the New York Philharmonic in a single concert.

Mr. Whittemore is from Vermillion, South Dakota, and Mr. Lowe is from Denver, Colorado. They met as students at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, New York. Their astonishing record of re-engagements and average of 68 concerts per season have made them household names.

The President:

At 7:45 p. m. you and the First Lady will be escorted from the Family Quarters of the Residence to the North Portico Entrance to greet your honored guests. Colonel and Mrs. (Faye) Thomas P. Stafford USAF, Commander and Mrs. (Barbara) John W. Young USN, and Commander and Mrs. (Barbara) Eugene A. Cernan USN will arrive by car. You and your guests will then be escorted to the Red Room where you will be joined by the Vice President and Mrs. Agnew and Mr. and Mrs. David Eisenhower.

NOTE: There will be a photo opportunity of you greeting your guests as they arrive.

Your other dinner guests, numbering about 25, will have been served drinks in the Blue Room. A guest list is attached. The dress is black tie with long dresses for the ladies.

The Vice President and Mrs. Agnew and Mr. and Mrs. David Eisenhower will enter the Blue Room first, and then at about 8:10 p. m. you and Mrs. Nixon, followed by the Staffords, the Youngs, and the Cernans, will be announced and will enter the Blue Room where you will form a receiving line before the pre-positioned Colors at the South End of the room. You and Mrs. Nixon will be closest to the Green Room, with the Staffords, the Youngs, and the Cernans to your left. Your guests will be presented to you by a Social Aide. After they have passed through the receiving line, they will move to the Red Room and on to their places in the State Dining Room.

When you have greeted the last of your guests, you and Mrs. Nixon and your honored guests will be escorted out of the Blue Room, into the Grand Hall, and to your places at the head of the horseshoe-shaped table in the State Dining Room.

As the dinner draws to a close, you will make brief remarks which will be recorded by the White House Communications Agency for inclusion in the Presidential Archives.

NOTE: Suggested remarks are attached. There will be no press coverage, but a transcript of your remarks will be released to the press.

Following the conclusion of your remarks, the Astronauts will present you and the Vice President with lunar globes and the Presidential and Vice Presidential flags which they carried with them on their mission.

After dinner, coffee, liquers, and cigars will be served in the Blue Room. At approximately 10:10 p. m. you and your guests will be escorted to the East Room. You will then introduce the entertainment which is music by pianist Henry Mancini.

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTE:

Henry Mancini was born in Cleveland and studied at the Juilliard Institute of Music. After playing with the Tex Beneke Orchestra for two years, he joined the composing staff at Universal Pictures in Hollywood. He has done the scores for many motion pictures including The Glenn Miller Story, The Benny Goodman Story, The Days of Wine and Roses, and Breakfast at Tiffany's, and has won three Academy Awards and eleven Grammy Awards.

SPECIAL NOTE: One of the numbers that Mr. Mancini will play is the love theme from Romeo and Juliet. As of this date, it is the best-selling record in the United States and has just passed the million mark in sales.

At the conclusion of the entertainment, you will go forward and congratulate Mr. Mancini. A White House photographer will be available for pictures. You and Mrs. Nixon will then escort your honored guests to the North Portico and wish them good night. After their departure, you and Mrs. Nixon will be escorted to the Family Quarters.
