MEMORANDUM FOR THE PLANNING GROUP DISCUSSION FILE

SUBJECT: Camp David

Tex McCrary makes the point that the President is spending too much time at Camp David and away from the White House. He feels that if he does go off to a resort or to one of his working places that we should something out that has a dateline from that particular place. In other words, save something and release it while he's there so it will look like he's working. He feels the President should become a seven-day-a-week President. In other words, something every day -- always pushing.
