MEMORANDUM FOR:

FRED MALEK

FROM:

GORDON STRACHAN

A review of general matters pending indicate two areas that Bob may still be expecting something from you.

First is the entire Older American program. I know you talked with Bob about this and have submitted a couple of brief memoranda. When you talked with Bob directly, did you get the impression that there should be a more substantial review of the entire Older American approach in the campaign?

Whatever happened to your memorandum analyzing the Colson p.r. outfit? I realize that you and Howard moved Rhatigan quickly into position, but was there something else that you were going to bring Bob up to speed on?

Lawyers for the President

I noticed Chuck Colson's recent memorandum to you indicating surprise that Covington & Burling and Arnold & Porter were represented on your Lawyers for Nixon Committee. I couldn't agree with him more. Law firms are notoriously political so why reward arch enemies? There also happens to be surprisingly distinguished group of Republican lawyers who should have the honor of serving on this Committee. We should not rely on the two big, powerful (Democratic) firms in Washington and several unknown firms that are relatively small time. I just don't see the advantage to having Oregon, Massachusetts and Washington lawyers. The legal clout today is exercised on Wall Street, in Chicago, Dallas and Los Angeles. All of those cities are crucial to us in November.

So much for my interjection in your business.

MEMORANDUM FOR: JEB MAGRUDER
FROM: GORDON STRACHAN
SUBJECT: Political Leak

Someone is talking increasingly over at 1701 because as you probably noticed on page 12 of this morning's News Summary, one of the President's campaign strategists is quoted as saying, "I would doubt that you'll see him out on the stump. I don't think he'll have the time." As you know, there is considerable discussion about what the President should do during the campaign; however, no one has suggested that the line "I don't think he'll have the time" is the correct one. Would you please let us know who is pushing this line out?

SUBJECT:

"U.S. News" Feature

You probably noticed in this morning's News Summary that there was an analysis on Page 20 of a "U.S. News" feature on the RN and McGovern campaign strategies. The Summary quote RN backers as projecting 337 electoral votes leaning to RN, 27 to McGovern and 174 in doubt; while McGovern backers project 265 leaning to McGovern, 147 leaning to RN, with 126 in doubt. It would be interesting to know the source of these projections from within your organization both in terms of whether it makes sense to release this type of information and what the background is for it.

On another matter in the News Summary, you probably should be aware that UPI says some of the 1701 aides indicated Mrs. Mitchell had "other problems" and wasn't disenchanted with the role of her husband. I obviously don't need any report on this story, but you should be aware of the fact that the notation was read by the recipients of the News Summary.

Two items of considerable interest appeared in the News Summary today. The first concerned the "George" Nixon incident at the General Conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Church. Would you please give me a call concerning this matter.

The second concerned the Michigan Supreme Court decision regarding the state's voter registration law. Apparently, the decision will permit the registration of 600,000 voters in Detroit, most of whom are Democrats. I presume this decision is being factored into your assessment of our chances in Michigan.

McGovern Campaign Organization

Rick Fore's analysis of the McGovern campaign organization in the California primary was read with considerable interest. Several questions were raised. Basically, the questions are two. First, what does our campaign organization have which is analogous to this McGovern approach? Second, what is our campaign plan to get out the vote?

It might be best to respond to these questions by having Rick Fore do the same type of critique of our campaign organization as he did of the McGovern organization.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to give me a call.

It has been requested that your report be submitted by June 23.

FROM: GORDON STRACHAN
SUBJECT: Flemming's Idea

In a long rambling conversation with Harry Flemming yesterday, he mentioned a "brilliant idea" that he will be developing over the next few weeks. Basically, he is concerned that the campaign doesn't have any field precinct organization. It is his belief that all efforts for the next four and one-half months should be aimed at registration, voter identification and get out the vote. He feels we have foundation of such an organization within all field directors of the Voter Blocs. The appeal should be changed from addressing campaign literature to particular voter blocs to his three step approach aimed at election day.

Obviously, this type of organization is what everybody has been trying to push Flemming and others to establish in the states. It is now clear that such an organization has not been established and so Flemming may take another tack and try and shift the Voter Bloc emphasis. In light of different assessment of the role of Voter Blocs, you may want to be prepared when Flemming starts pushing this idea.

On another matter, when will Jerry Jones' Comptroller Report of the California Campaign be ready. The Report can obviously be used as a starting point of the analysis of the California Campaign organization that has been discussed.

As Bob discussed with you on the telephone yesterday, he is somewhat concerned about the allocation of resources within your voting bloc areas. His particular concern is Older Americans.

As we discussed on the telephone, he wants a specific description of the allocation of resources from other campaign divisions to the Older Americans. You mentioned that you were going to review the entire Older Americans campaign plan.

The other report Bob mentioned that he wanted from you concerned the result of your working with Colson on improving the p.r. efforts of his project managers. We had discussed the solution of upgrading Rhatican. You and Chuck might have developed other ideas.

Would it be possible to have these reports for Bob by Thursday, June 15?

MEMORANDUM FOR:

THE RECORD

FROM:

GORDON STRACHAN

SUBJECT:

Haldeman Meeting with
Peter Dailey, Phil Joanou,
Bob Taylor on June 2

At 11:30 on June 2 Bob met with the three top men from the November Group (Dailey, Joanou and Taylor) for a two hour discussion of the status of the campaign advertising and the documentary.

Dailey opened the meeting by informing Bob that the November Group now consisted of 25 advertising people based in New York with 5 here in the District. Dailey mentioned that the November Group had established its advertising and organizational credibility within the campaign and that in his opinion his relationship was smooth and amicable.

Dailey mentioned that he planned to control finances on a week by week basis as well as to challenge the developing interpretation of the law that requires the candidate's image and voice in the advertising. Dailey said this was their only hang-up with the law at the moment.

Phil Joanou turned the meeting over to Taylor to begin discussion of the creative strategy. Bob had read the creative strategy statement and had been through the large black book outlining their approach. Taylor made the following points:

- 1) The President is a man of action;
- 2) He has long-range vision and a master plan;
- 3) The President is a man who inherited a mess in 1968;
- 4) He has courage, decisiveness and dedication;

5) Issues -- Taylor posed the issue of whether the campaign should be run as a "man campaign" or whether as an "issue campaign". Bob indicated that he inclines toward the "man campaign" but believes that the issues should be used to sell a man. He does not believe you can get points only on the merits of the issues.

Most ads will not usually involve the President, rather people will be used to tell the President's story.

Bob also emphasized that the advertising men should not worry much about selling the President as a warm, lovable human being as this has been tried before, generally unsuccessfully. Rather use China trip pictures and don't become obsessed with personal profiles.

Bob also likes the use of video tape rather than film to give an appearance of immediacy. Dailey agreed.

The discussion shifted to the basic theme line for the campaign. Nine alternatives were offered. They are:

1) Re-elect the President. Bob mentioned that all the news referrals are to President Nixon which prompted Dailey to mention the second slogan,

2) Re-elect President Nixon. The third is,

3) It's Got to be Nixon. The fourth is,

4) President Nixon - He's Turned It Around. Bob was somewhat positive on this one.

5) Keep It Going, Re-Elect the President. Bob opposed this one because the opposition would use inflation, the War, etc., because "it" is too easily used against us. The sixth suggestion was,

6) President Nixon - Help Him Finish the Job

7) For America's Future Re-Elect the President, while the eighth was

8) AmericanNeeds Nixon or AmericanNeeds President Nixon. Bob believes these are too standard as campaign themes. The ninth suggestion was

9) President Nixon - Now More Than Ever which can be abbreviated to Nixon Now. Bob thought these slogans were good and should be considered the top candidate.

Taylor next reviewed the research on the campaign theme which was somewhat indecisive.

Taylor then shifted to the 60-second TV ads which he showed on boards. The first concerned China and Bob's comments were that:

- 1) These should be no toast to Mao picture;
- 2) There should be no picture of drink or toasting with Chou;
- 3) And there should be no troop review. Rather, the President's handshake with Chou should be emphasized along with the great differences between the countries. Also, footage of the President hard at work.

The second ad concerned 1968 problems which Haldeman thought was good.

The discussion shifted to the advantage of 60-second~~s~~ and Dailey mentioned that both networks are pushing the candidates toward 5-minute spots because there is an outstanding rate that the networks are preparing for this type of spot. Dailey is not too happy about the 5-minute spots because the issues become rather boring. In any event, Dailey will have both 30-seconds' and 15 spots in reserve for use should the negotiations with the networks over the 60s and 5-minute spots change. Bob agreed with Dailey that for the 5-minute spots it would be better to use existing footage and edit it rather than try to create footage. For example, on the environment a 5-minute spot could open with Ruckelshaus, cut to existing Nixon footage with Ruckelshaus' voice over, and then Ruckelshaus close.

The next ad concerned bureaucracy. Bob suggested that they might want to use the community disaster like the L.A. earthquake as well as the West Virginia mine disaster as an example of how the President has streamlined Government. Bob also suggested that on the bureaucracy subject, there would be pretty good chance that Connally would be available after the Democratic Convention to do commercials and discuss his role on the Ash Commission.

On the Older American ad, Bob suggested that they drop the language on "take-off fixed incomes" as this would scare older Americans.

On the Vietnam ad using the chart of troops in Vietnam, Bob thought that the President's Inauguration should be made more obvious and that the years should be added at the bottom to emphasize the increase in troops pre-RN.

The negative ads on McGovern were considered very effective by Bob. The back and forth routine on amnesty, abortion and pot were particularly effective. Bob suggested that other negative ads might want to include McGovern's voice as well as other Democratic comments on McGovern. He thought an especially effective spokesman would be a non-candidate's voice like Mansfield.

Generally, Bob thought the types of ads presented were fine and that they make the points necessary. Bob directed Dailey to develop a program to utilize the "Nixon Now" chant for possible use in rallies.

Bob also suggested that Dailey obtain some footage of the Polish reception for advertisements in the Chicago area.

Although Bob was aware that Chapin did not want to discuss the documentary, Bob asked Chapin to join the group as he wanted to cover the notes that he had made on the documentary materials submitted by Chapin. It was Bob's view that the documentary on Pat Nixon was good, but suggested that there be more footage of the President and Mrs. Nixon together to emphasize the partnership point. He also questioned whether the suggested interview with Mrs. Nixon would be as effective as with a third party who could say better things about her.

Concerning The Presidential Years documentary, Bob thought that the theme of a man of thought and planning was too passive and suggested instead the use of courage and leadership, etc., to stimulate interest.

Concerning the Keogh script, the discussion of the war should make the point that the number of troops was escalating until Richard Nixon became President. The emphasis must be that Vietnam could have been much worse and that they may want to pick up the line that he would be a great President but couldn't get elected, so as to drop the "loser" language.

As to the roadblocks, Bob told him that he didn't think they should use the President alone in frustration because it makes him look ineffective. Instead, use the signing ceremony for the eighteen year old vote. There is some excellent footage of a Mexican girl crying that should be used. He also thought that footage of the phone call to the Moon was better than the footage of the President greeting the astronauts. More emphasis should be placed on the vision aspect, that is, so much remains to be done and the continuing challenges, instead of failure, frustration and disappointment. SALT should be used not as a solution but as a start.

Concerning the documentary, Portrait of a Man, Bob originally thought that it was a bad idea to use anecdotes, insights or reminiscences, but as he read the script he was coming around more to accept that theory. Dwight made the argument that we should at least try a long-term, Paul Keyes-type interview with the President on film as it would be worth the risk and was part of Wolper's suggestion. Bob indicated that it might be possible to do this with the President before the trip to California or out in California.

The meeting concluded at 1:30, and after they had left Bob mentioned to me that he did not want to show all the advertising to the Ehrlichman political group now but rather wait until further down the line. At that point he would plan on telling them what the campaign advertising is to be and just as a final check against any giant negatives that had not been thought of.

ADMINISTRATIVELY CONFIDENTIAL

June 22, 1972

MEMORANDUM FOR:

BOB TEETER

FROM:

GORDON STRACHAN

SUBJECT:

Pat Caddell

You'll probably notice that McGovern's pollster, Pat Caddell, is quite a talkative individual. Recent news reports that we have seen indicate that he has disclosed the time he is taking the poll. In addition, on CBS AM news yesterday he indicated that the McGovern staff is in the process of deciding priority states for the fall. You should undoubtedly watch the CBS AM news (arrange through Mark Goode's office at Signal) and you will probably be able to receive a substantial amount of intelligence about McGovern and Caddell's plans. In addition to all his past news stories, you may want to watch him, particularly closely in the next several weeks. Needless to say, I assume you will not be talking to anyone in the press.

EYES ONLY

MEMORANDUM FOR: BILL TIMMONS
FROM: GORDON STRACHAN
SUBJECT: RNC Convention

Bob Haldeman reviewed the Convention materials that were submitted by Peter Dailey. Generally, he thought they were quite good but had four comments:

- 1) The cut down, pop art version of the flag is not to be used for billboards, placards, and visual displays, etc.;
- 2) Pink paper should not be used for handmade signs or other printed matter;
- 3) The building banners using the stars are acceptable but not as good as others that could be developed;
- 4) The blue in the balloons and on the delegates' ribbon is too dark.

As we discussed on the telephone, you should check with Don Kendall and BBD&O as to where this material stands. I realize the program may be quite far along. Chapin, correctly I believe, feels that you and he must have the final say over what the RNC produces.
