No BONES aBOUT iT...

Dear Daddy,

You're TOP DOG today!

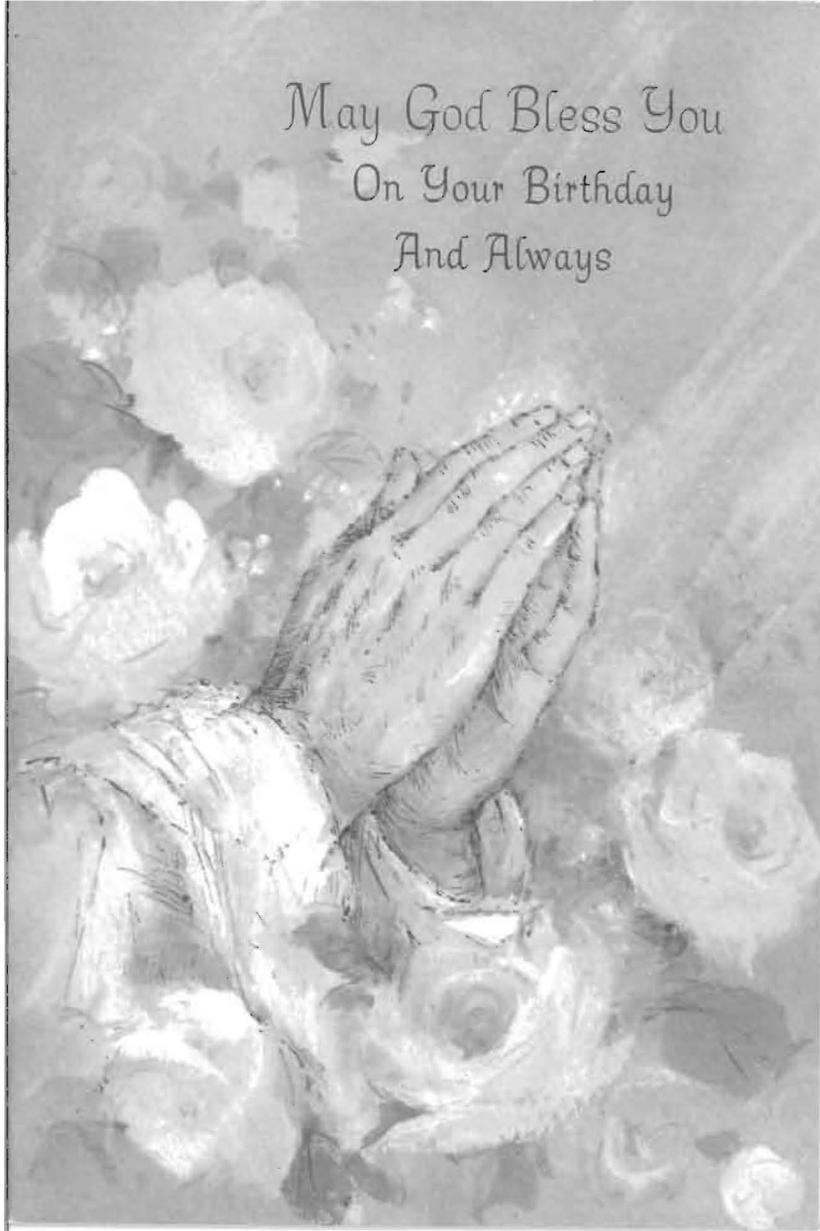

HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

(ever-over-ting!)

We love you -

Felix and David

May God Bless You
On Your Birthday
And Always

Wishing you a happy day

And offering a prayer

That God will bless you

all the year

And keep you in His care

“Praying hands are dearest

In the sight of God above

For in their sweet

and earnest clasp

Is reverence and love. . .”

From Preston Parson
your Daughters

The President

YOU'RE HAVING A BIRTHDAY?
THIS IS WHAT YOU'VE BEEN WAITING FOR ALL YEAR...
YOUR BIG CHANCE TO RELAX AND UNWIND...

SCHULZ

HAVE A FUN TIME.

Rosy

The President.

LET YOUR LIGHT SO SHINE BEFORE MEN THAT THEY MAY SEE YOUR GOOD WORKS AND GLORIFY YOUR FATHER WHICH IS IN HEAVEN.

St. Matthew.

There is one man in modern times,
Who has lead his nation in its climb,
To heights above all of those on earth,
Today, we celebrate his birth.

The changes he has wrought are grand,
Throughout the world and this great land.
Are those which men can see are fine,
And thus before them, light does shine.

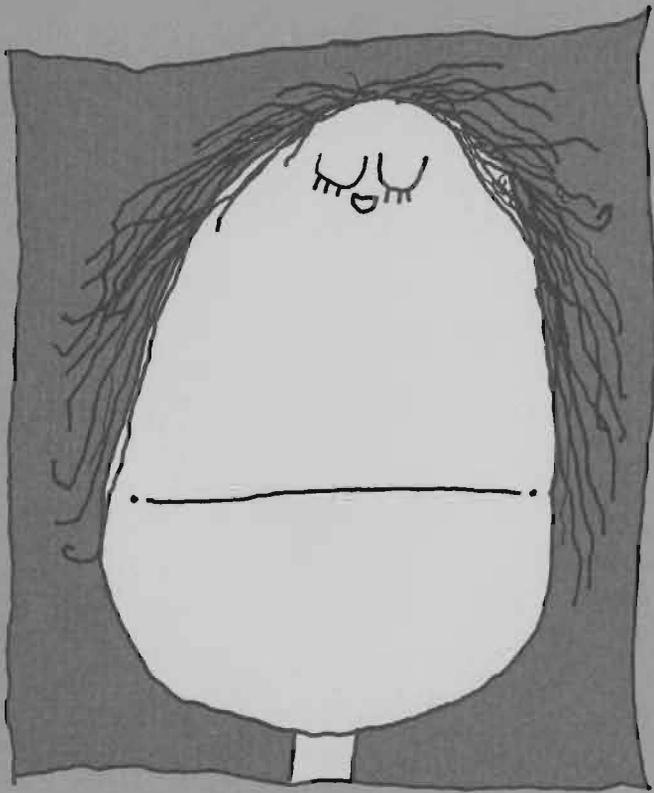

Mr. President, they see your light,
They know that you are doing right,
The works which God but can reward,
As thus, you glorify the Lord.

I wish you well on this your day,
And for you I, to God, will pray.
That the light you show will shine and shine,
For many a January nine.

A handwritten signature in cursive script, which appears to be "John F. Kennedy". The signature is written in dark ink and is positioned below the main text of the poem.

Mr. President

HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

(if you've reached the point where you don't want to talk about your age, don't let
it bug you....)

you've just become a member of the SILENT MAJORITY!

HAPPY DAY!

Take it from me -
'59 is a good year.
(for all 3)

Beke

THE VICE PRESIDENT
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

The President

Eyes Only

THE VICE PRESIDENT
WASHINGTON

January 7, 1972

Dear Mr. President,

On just two days you will celebrate your third birthday in office. The next one you celebrate as a private citizen will be on January 9, 1978, and I hope the intervening ones will be happy and productive for you and for our country.

Here is a useful gadget that does what it is supposed to do much better than any of its competitors. I think you will be surprised at the difference.

Thank you, Mr. President, for your confidence and support.

Respectfully
Ted

January 17, 1972

Dear Milton:

This is just a note to tell you how much I appreciate the generous gift you arranged to send me for my birthday. You were most thoughtful to remember me in this special way. Also, your unique telegram was a real conversation piece when it arrived at The White House.

With kindest regards,

Sincerely,

Mr. Milton S. Kronheim

MEMORANDUM

TO: Leonard Garment

FROM: Rose Mary Woods

I am not sure whether I called you after we discussed the bound copy of the President's memo on the Hill vs. Time case that you sent to Julie as a wedding gift. In talking with Julie she said that she remembers it very well and has it and also said she had written a letter at the time, so I guess all is well.

Perhaps in the confusion of Julie's wedding, Christmas, the Inauguration and the move to Washington you did not have an opportunity to see her note.

President Richard M. Nixon
The White House
Washington, D. C. 20500

Dear Mr. President:

RW

Please do not think this letter to be presumptuous, but I want you to know that the College trustees have invited Mr. David Packard to consider membership on our board. Mr. Packard was kind enough to tell me by phone that he would consider the invitation, and I have asked Mr. Robert Kennedy and his brother to continue the conversation with Mr. Packard. I also spoke with Mr. Kendall, but Don didn't know him well enough to intercede.

I am wondering if in some subtle manner you could let Mr. Packard know of your great interest in our College. Surely, if he were to come on our board the College would profit greatly from his administrative ability, his philanthropic endeavors and his interest in higher education.

Our best wishes go with you in your forthcoming trip to The Chinese People's Republic. We also wish you success in the Fall elections.

Most respectfully,

Frederick M. Binder

PRESENTATION BEFORE THE RICHARD NIXON FOUNDATION
IN FAVOR OF THE WHITTIER SITE

by

Frederick M. Binder, Ph.D.
President of Whittier College

August 28, 1970

August 28, 1970

PRESENTATION BEFORE THE RICHARD NIXON FOUNDATION
IN FAVOR OF THE WHITTIER SITE

Mr. Chairman, members of the Richard Nixon Foundation:

Thank you for permitting me to appear before you. I feel very comfortable in your presence because I have met many of you personally, and, of course, Whittier College does have a special relationship with three of the Foundation members--Don Kendall, Hubert Perry, and Clint Harris, who serve on the Board of Trustees of the college.

As President of Whittier College, a small (2100) independent liberal arts college--comparable to our sister colleges of Occidental and Redlands--it is only natural for me, and proper, to believe that the Whittier community should be the site of the Presidential Library-Museum Complex. We would not deny the tremendous advantages which would accrue to Whittier College in fame and reputation to be located near this center of scholarship and international prestige. It is also true that Whittier, through its Nixon Institute concept and the proposed four Richard M. Nixon endowed chairs--one of which is already endowed for $500,000--its membership in the Urban Consortium, its tentative agreement with U.S.C. for a Ph.D. program, and its Oral History project, the latter designated by your Foundation, already has progressed in contributing toward co-operative scholarship and research among and between colleges and universities of this area.

But rather than as a college president speaking to you about his college and community, I should like to speak to you as an American historian and Professor of History. Located in the Whittier area, the Presidential Library-Museum Complex would be accessible to a huge population and to more than forty colleges and universities, both undergraduate and graduate. What is even more significant to remember is that graduate students and scholars come to the source of their materials. If they are Nixon scholars, if they are students of twentieth century America and our constitutional form of government, they will come from around the nation and from foreign countries to study at this center.

Nixon Library proposal

Therefore, the center will be national and international in scope. Graduate degrees can and will be granted by dozens of universities throughout the country on the basis of dissertation research completed or carried on at this Library.

The broader aspects of the Library-Museum, the educational value to the public, will be obviously incorporated in your plans. The center must be for all the people and not simply for scholars, so that more Americans can come to appreciate the greatness of their country through its leaders and institutions. A sense of history, a sense of pride and understanding are essential ingredients of a nation's continuance.

Historical scholars, in particular, and the public in general expect their President to have roots in a specific place. When one thinks of Lincoln, one thinks of Springfield, Illinois; of F.D.R. and Hyde Park; of Truman and Independence, Missouri.

Richard M. Nixon, the President of the United States, has chosen the portraits of three former Presidents to be placed on the walls of the Cabinet Room of the White House to serve as examples of greatness and inspiration. Two, hanging side-by-side, in their lifetimes were old personal and political enemies, yet each represented the best of America--Teddy Roosevelt of New York City and Oyster Bay, and Woodrow Wilson of Princeton and Shadow Lawn. The third portrait was a close personal and political friend of Richard Nixon: Dwight David Eisenhower of West Point and Abilene, Kansas. Roosevelt's papers are scattered. Shadow Lawn is only a memory. But Eisenhower's records are intact at Abilene.

As Foundation members, you have been charged with a peculiar and almost sacred duty. When you select the site of the Presidential Library-Museum Complex, you are not simply selecting a geographic area; you are consigning Richard M. Nixon to history. His name, his life, his deeds become the property of the American people for all time. Consign him to history in a place where he belongs, surrounded by a familiar environment, in an established community, in a heritage of humble beginnings, in a place alive with memories and the roots of his greatness. Here in Whittier, where Richard Nixon grew up, went to school; and practiced law, here is the proper atmosphere for scholars and students to come and to work, and for millions of Americans to come and to learn about Richard Nixon and American history and government in the twentieth century.
