Address: 1726 3326 Falcon Ave., Signal Hill, Long Beach, Calif. 90807
Many people have expressed their high regard for Franklin Milhous for his integrity and judgment, his understanding and loving kindness. He was friendly, hospitable and genuinely interested in other people. He was much concerned about our national situation, the need for definite diplomacy. He was much disturbed about the first NIXON KISS and what it was going to mean to our country. He surrounded the activities of the Friends meeting and was very active on committees of the church, and was sought out for advice on the building committee and Simmons. He, also, sang in the choir.

His social life extended to his neighbors, friends and particularly his relatives. Friends or relatives who came to California from the east were always invited and urged to come to their home and stay a while and maybe for a week or even longer. He enjoyed driving them out to where there were Fort Whittier Citrus Groves. After Sunday meeting no time usually the last car to leave to be sure no stragglers or visitors were left without an invitation to dinner. Their table was stretched out and ready to welcome any and all who came.

When Albert Park Burks Milhous was nearly eighty-eight she went by automobile with her daughter and son-in-law, Doyne and Frank Nixon, to attend the graduation exercises at Duke University in North Carolina, of their son, Howard. She was always personated with delight and interest for herself and for all mankind. She loved to work in the yard, tending her flowers and caring for her chickens. She liked all of the farm animals and was especially fond of horses, as had her father, Oliver Burks, been before her. She was much about the trees and flowers and fruits and flowers and all expressions of nature seemed to speak of one she had long ago learned to love. She wrote new pieces of poetry, often writing to friends and relations on special days or occasions for them.

At the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of Whittier, California, she acted as important part in the pageant, dressed in traditional Garor costume. She lit the first of the fifty white candles which spelled the name "Whittier" at the evening of the celebration and held a prominent place throughout the week's activities.

A verse of hers, expressive of her sentiments follows:

When they've crossed to the other side
Where joy and peace and love abide,
We should not murmur nor complain
For rich them back to earth again
To suffer on, perhaps for years,
Mid care and toil and sometimes tears,
But strive to meet them in a better land
There taught the sever the frenzy band.

Alma Frieda Fardy Witter was active in church, W.C.T.U., Y.C.
Auxiliary, East Whittier Woman's Improvement Club -- and acted as Secretary of that organization.
