The problem this morning is of reversal by Mills on Social Security. Apparently Church met with Mills, told him that he had Long's support on adding Social Security, and Wilbur is now equivocating regarding supporting the Long/Church Amendment. Long and Church tell him it is fully funded and we're now afraid Mills will go along on a Democratic partisan basis. MacGregor is going to try and fight this out with Mansfield by threatening that Burns will fight it in conference and will demand it go to Rules and the three day layover, which would force Congress to stay in past the start of the 4th of July recess and even into the Democratic Convention if necessary.

We shot our TV documentary today using the President this afternoon and it went reasonably well although he didn't like anything about it, which was understandable. He felt that we were overdoing, having Carruthers and Good produce it, and felt that we should let the show producer handle the thing.

Henry got back this afternoon. Met with the President and Rogers for a while and then went on up to Camp David with the President for dinner and spending the night tonight, then he comes back down tomorrow to do a press briefing tomorrow morning.

The Democratic headquarters break-in has gone the other way now. Apparently Dean feels the investigation is out of control, but Gray doesn't know what to do in controlling the Bureau.

They've found-- traced some of the money to one of our contributors and also the money that came out of the Mexican bank and they'll know who the depositors are on that today.

Apparently, an informant also came in the Miami office saying that he had a photographer friend who was developing films for Barker, including pictures of the Democratic National Committee letterhead. They feel the whole thing is at the brink right now. And it'll either open it all up or be closed. And that the FBI is convinced it's the CIA that's doing this, and Gray's looking for a way out of the investigation. So we talked to Walters and had that worked out.
