FRANK G. SWAIN
OF COUNSEL

December 12, 1969

Dear Rose:

From a telephone conversation received this morning from Chris Cross, we understand that you want some additional information on Whittier College and the Nixon Institution, etc. On the two items on which you requested information, I can advise you as follows:

1. Enclosed is a copy of the Amended By-Laws which were adopted by the Board of Trustees and set forth the creation and operation of the Nixon Institution. As you can see, this is wholly under the direction of the Board of Trustees of the College.

Yesterday, the Finance Committee met and we have decided and are recommending to the Executive Committee, which meets Monday, that there will be one financial operation of the College and not a separate bank account for the Institution. It is all going to be under our Treasurer and Controller and the Director of the Institution will be subject to the same rules and regulations as the President of the College. This is going to hurt some feelings but we begin to see that a successful operation requires this.

2. Information concerning the nature, purpose and extent of the Nixon Institution has not been completed as yet. The Trustees had requested this information sometime ago but Paul Smith advises us that the architects have not submitted a rendering of the new building which we propose on the campus and he has not completed the brochure setting up the information which we wanted on the Institution. I had a meeting with John Stauffer at the University Club last week with Paul there, at which meeting we pressed very hard to have this completed within the next two weeks or thirty days. As soon as something is available you can be sure that I will send it to you. I am just as distressed as anybody that it is taking this long to produce it.

For your information, and I hope you will treat this confidentially, I am having a meeting this afternoon with Paul Smith to advise him of the necessity for some reorganization and deadlines on the production of materials. There is much emotion in this, as you can well understand, but frankly, the success of the Institution and the College requires first class attention and production and while I love Paul like a brother, I must take some radical action on the part of the Trustees this afternoon to insure the success of the project. I am well aware of how the President feels on these matters and I think I have the backing of the Board of Trustees and the Finance Committee in what will possibly transpire this afternoon.

The Executive Committee of the Trustees, which has power to act, is meeting Monday afternoon and this whole item will be one of our important suggestions of discussion. I shall call you next week and give you a personal account of the situation.

This whole process has been slow, but it has been done and with few crushed feelings or difficulties. We have come out of this transition with a united faculty and student body with a tremendous spirit and Dr. Case, the acting President, told me just today that he has never seen a college with such vigor and new life as there is on the Whittier Campus. If the President could only sense this I am sure he would be happy in what is transpiring and what we will come out with in the next six months.

If this is not the information you wanted, do not hesitate to call me and we will get anything you want in that regard.

As ever,

b) The Nixon Institution Committee shall have the general oversight of the operation of the Institution and shall report to the Board of Trustees at the pleasure of the latter.

c) The Director shall annually prepare and present a plan and program for the operation of the Institution, which shall be submitted to the Nixon Institution Committee for approval. When approved, the same shall be forwarded to the Board of Trustees of the College for approval. Upon the approval of the plan and program the same shall be carried into effect by the Director.

d) The Director shall annually prepare a budget for the operation of the Institution and shall submit the same to the Nixon Institution Committee for approval. Upon the approval of such budget, the same shall be forwarded to the Board of Trustees of the College for approval. Upon the approval of such budget by the Trustees, the same shall constitute the operating budget for the Institution and thereafter the Director shall be entitled to operate the Institution in accordance with the terms and conditions of the budget.

e) A member of the Nixon Institution Committee may be removed for cause at any time after due notice by an affirmative vote of two-thirds of the committee and upon such removal the President of the Board of Trustees shall appoint a new member from the Board of Trustees to replace the removed member.

f) All funds raised by the Director, the Advisors, or others, and funds which may be given and designated for use of the Institution, shall be deposited in a separate bank account, in the name of The Richard Nixon Institution of Human Affairs. Any funds withdrawn from said account shall be by check signed by the Director of the Institution, and any one of the following: Chairman of The Nixon Committee; Vice-Chairman of the Nixon Committee; or any other Committee member. Two signatures shall be required on any check withdrawing funds from such account. Funds of the Institution may be invested as directed by the Nixon Institution Committee.

g) In accounting, all gifts made to the Institution shall be so shown on its books of account and all expenditures therefrom shall be so shown. Any funds given to the Institution for special purposes shall be so shown and used in accordance with the gift. All funds of the Institution shall be carried in the annual budget of the College but under separate headings. Physical and financial assets of the Institution shall be shown as assets of the College but carried under separate headings.

Section 6. Board of Advisors. There is hereby created and the Institution shall have a Board of Advisors, consisting of not more than 21 members, which shall be known as the Nixon Institution Board of Advisors. Such board shall be influential American citizens who need not be members of the Board of Trustees of Whittier College, who are interested in advancing the aims and purposes of the Institution. They shall be nominated by the Director of the Institution (and the President of the Board of Trustees of Whittier College) and approved by the Nixon Institution Committee. The Nixon Institution Committee shall set the terms of office of the Advisors if it so desires and stagger the terms, so that there will be continuity in the personnel of the Board of Advisors.

Section 7. Institution Associates. The Director of the Nixon Institution is authorized to create a support organization known as Associates of the Nixon Institution of Human Affairs. Such organization shall be made up of those persons, firms and corporations who shall support the purposes of the Institution by annual gifts of not less than $1500 per year.

- a) The Associates shall be entitled to receive selected publications of the Institution and participate in special affairs of the Institution of particular interest to them.

Section 8. Teaching and Research Staff. The objectives of the Nixon Institution shall be especially implemented by the establishment of named and endowed chairs in economics, political science, and history within the Institution. These are to be occupied by distinguished scholars or personages with other unique credentials for furthering the basic purpose of the Institution. They may hold a teaching and/or research position in the Institution by temporary appointment or on the basis of permanent appointment but without tenure. The Director shall employ all staff and "faculty" members with approval of the Trustee Committee and the Board of Trustees.

- a) Members of the teaching and research staff shall be deemed "faculty" of the Institution and not members of the faculty of the College. Their obligation may include teaching one course or a seminar or both in appropriate departments of the College and by arrangement of the Director with the department chairman involved and the President of the College. This does not preclude comparable arrangements being made independently with other educational institutions.
- b) The Director and Faculty of the Institution shall cooperate with the President and Faculty of the College in setting requirements for courses of study and grades or degrees or honors which may be conferred upon students taking work directly in the Institution. College credit shall be given for studies taken in the Institution but only such credit as may be agreed upon by the Director of the Institution and the President of the College.
- c) Such arrangement does not preclude scholarship or tuition-paying students taking work in the Institution independently of Whittier or any other institutions with whatever academic recognition such institution may elect to grant.
- d) Recognizing the smallness of the staff and the intimacy of operation, such faculty organization as may exist shall be loose and minimal. However, the Director may call for advice and for the orderly and effective guidance of the Institution.

(This amendment adopted August 25, 1969)

ARTICLE X

Chancellor of the College

Section 3. Chancellor of the College. The Board of Trustees may elect a Chancellor of the College to serve at the pleasure of the Board of Trustees and whose duties and responsibilities shall be as follows:

- c) To act as President of the College in the event of the death or resignation of the President of the College and when asked to do so by the Board of Trustees.

Section 4. The Chancellor shall be an ex officio member of the Board of Trustees and of all committees. He shall not be required to attend such meetings but shall have the right to attend and speak at such meetings as he deems advisable.

The Board of Trustees shall annually fix the salary and authorize the business expenses of the Chancellor.

That said Article V of the Bylaws of Whittier College be amended by the additional title and the additional sections above set forth to Article V as the same now exists.

FRANK G. SWAIN
OF COUNSEL

December 4, 1969

Dear Mr. President:

The College Presidential Selection Committee met yesterday and selected five candidates to be interviewed. We have received two hundred twenty-seven (227) nominations. The Executive Committee has gone over the papers for each of these men and recommended twelve men for the committee to consider. From the twelve we selected five outstanding men. The five are designated with a red dot on the enclosed list. The seven other men are designated with a green dot. As you can see, the twelve are topflight.

Art Corey and Dr. Connick are now spending two weeks in the east interviewing the top five. They will report to the committee and we will evaluate the five from their personal interviews. The top three men and their wives will be brought to the campus where they will spend the afternoon with the committee and the evening at dinner with the Board of Trustees. The following day will be spent with the faculty and students and the third day with the Alumni group. After interviewing the top three men and their wives, the committee will then name the man to be invited to be President of the College.

We could find only one Quaker, Dr. S. D. Marble, who was formerly President of Wilmington College, who met our requirements.

Also enclosed is a copy of our Presidential Profile which we used as a basis for selecting a President and which Profile is mailed to every candidate. We have had unusually fine comments on the Profile and some of the comments are enclosed. For instance, Curtis W. Tarr, Assistant Secretary for the Air Force and one of your very trusted advisors and who, by the way, is a type of man Harvard is looking at, says that the Profile is the best he has ever read.

As ever,

Thomas W. Bewley

TWB/tdj

President Richard M. Nixon
The White House
Washington, D. C.

PRESIDENTIAL PROFILE

It is far easier to determine the qualifications of a college president than to discover a person who embodies them. Yet the search for a president should be facilitated by a frank delineation of the objectives. Any specification list is apt to be tainted by a touch of idealism and unreality, but these limitations will melt away when we are confronted with flesh-and-blood candidates. The characteristics listed below are in no special order of priority, and they are intended as a guide for our task and not as principles that imprison.

1. He should be an experienced administrator (such as a Department Chairman, Dean, Vice-President, President, or reasonable equivalent) who can choose able associates and subordinates, assign them clearly-defined roles, and hold them accountable for quality performances.
2. He should be a proven fund raiser who has the ability to organize and develop a many-faceted and productive fund-raising program.
3. He should be an innovative educator, with an earned doctorate (hopefully a Ph. D.), who has taught at the college or university level and understands the academic process.
4. He should be a person of Christian conviction who understands and sympathizes with the Quaker heritage.
5. He should possess the social and communication skills required to interpret the goals and needs of the College to its many constituents.
6. He should be a generalist whose range of the whole is not restricted by over-specialization.
7. He should be progressive in the sense that he is willing to change as circumstances change.
8. He should be somewhere in the range of 40 to 55 years of age.
9. He should be in robust physical health.

PRESIDENTIAL LEADERSHIP AND RESPONSIBILITY

A college president need not do everything. He need not, as one writer has sagely observed, "give a speech at every rise in the sidewalk." There are some things, however, that he should do if he is to succeed.

1. He should provide vigorous and imaginative leadership that will result in unity at the college based upon common purpose, determination, and dedication.
2. He should stimulate the development of academic and fiscal plans linked to an appropriate time schedule and become personally involved in the fund-raising program. He should be the catalytic agent that calls together and activates the round tables which give the plans birth.
3. He should organize an administration congenial to the ascension of ideas from students, faculty, alumni, and trustees through regularized channels of communication. He should encourage resolution of differences, not by domination or compromise, but by the discovery of viable alternatives which meet the essential conditions of the contesting parties. He should make each participant feel he is a part of the process and personally responsible for the enterprise at hand.
4. He should define and assign the authority and responsibility of each person, department, division, and committee so that each knows precisely where and how he stands. He should organize the college so that only a few people will report directly to him.
5. He should surround himself with an able staff and give them the prestige of their positions.
6. He should play a significant role in the recruitment of faculty and trustees.
7. He should move with ease among students, faculty, alumni, and the educational and business communities to advance the interests of the college.
8. He should encourage the development of volunteer support programs and provide them with staff services required to care for routine clerical chores.

INSTITUTIONAL PROFILE, 1969

The following matters are seen as deserving the highest priority in the continuing development of Whittier College:

1. One college
 - a. To remain one college
 - b. To resist pressures that would make us a university rather than a college
 - c. To create and maintain an educational fellowship, a community of teaching and learning
2. Christian college with Quaker heritage
 - a. To encourage with somewhat equal emphasis:
 - 1) Discipline of the intellect
 - 2) Nurture of the inner life of quiet devotion
 - 3) Implementation of social concern in practical, human service to the community and the world
 - b. To set a standard of wholeness
 - 1) Worship and work
 - 2) Discipline and freedom
 - 3) Respect for individual and concern for group
 - 4) Cultural breadth and vocational competence
3. Independent and nonsectarian
 - a. Self-perpetuating Board of Trustees, free from ecclesiastical control but pledged to maintain and uphold Christian ideals
 - b. Trustees, administrators and faculty include members of the Society of Friends in sufficient numbers to sustain the Quaker heritage
 - c. No discrimination in admission. Students admitted from a wide range of social, economic, racial, and religious backgrounds, from throughout the United States and abroad.

4. Coeducational

- a. Board of Trustees, administration, faculty, and student body to be made up of both men and women.
- b. To maintain continuous balance, or fair proportions, based on sex, with all that implies in terms of "equal" responsibilities and services

5. College of liberal arts primarily granting the bachelor of arts degree, with master's programs only in selected areas where there is special need and in which we have a special background and competence

- a. To keep the primary emphasis on quality baccalaureate education
- b. Concern for the quality of human experience and the meaning of being human
- c. Comprehensive understanding of man and the universe rather than technical training in highly specialized fields
- d. Education for leadership in the professions, business, and civic affairs

6. Small residential college

- a. Development of a working policy for limiting the undergraduate enrollment to a size consistent with the maintenance of an educational fellowship
- b. Provision for a faculty-student ratio which compares favorably with our sister institutions

"I want to congratulate your committee for the outstanding material concerning the job description and the College which you have enclosed with your request for nominations."

J. A. Greenlee, President
California State College at Los Angeles

" . . . I congratulate you on the excellent set of evaluative criteria to be used in measuring the men who will consider the position. I have taken the liberty of retaining it for future use in the search for faculty and staff and, who knows, perhaps one day for my successor."

Warren Knox
President
The College of Idaho

"The careful and responsible manner in which the Presidential Selection Committee is proceeding is most commendable."

Duane Moon, President
William Penn College

"If you don't mind unsolicited compliments, I should like to applaud the excellent supporting materials which you distributed with your letter to President Howard. In fact, your materials might well serve as a model for presidential search committees throughout higher education, and I wonder if I might be permitted to send copies to several friends of mine at other institutions facing the problem of locating a president."

John D. Phillips
Vice President for Administration
Lewis and Clark College

"The committee, as evidenced by the materials, is obviously determined to do a good job."

Vance D. Rogers, President
Nebraska Wesleyan University

"You have done a good job in outlining qualifications."

George H. Armacost, President
University of Redlands

"The committee should be commended for its very comprehensive description of the position, the kind of individual wanted, and the direction you see for Whittier College. It is rare to find such comprehensiveness in similar circumstances."

Richard R. Bond
Vice President of the University and Dean of Faculties
Illinois State University

"The several profiles included with your letter suggest that your Committee has a fine understanding of educational leadership and is interested in the kind of education to which I am myself committed."

David H. Malone, Chairman
Comparative Literature Program
University of Southern California

"Obviously, a lot of very thoughtful and hard work went into the development of the various profiles, which should give any candidate a precise and concise view of Whittier College and its environment and its educational undertakings. The materials are, I think, the best I have seen."

Arland F. Christ-Janer
President, Boston University

"The excellent vita suggestions and presidential 'profiles' which you provided are the best that I have seen. My vita incorporates the items indicated . . ."

Harold E. Walker
Executive Vice President
Fresno State College

"Your job descriptions are well done and seem to be most appropriate for the task as I understand it."

John R. Coleman
President, Haverford College

"I want to compliment you on the well-developed material you sent with your letter. This should be most helpful in getting the right man."

Howard L. Rubendall, President
Dickinson College

"Let me say that I think you have done better than many committees do in drawing up a set of specifications hopefully to be met."

Chester M. Alter
Chancellor Emeritus, University of Denver

"I was most impressed with the presidential and institutional profiles you mailed to me. These papers represent a carefully prepared synthesis of the qualities needed for the man who will lead our college in this critical period of time."

Leonard Hills Crofoot

"You and your colleagues are to be commended for the materials which you have prepared in your quest for a successor to Paul Smith. When I worked for the Association of American Colleges I had opportunity to examine the materials of many Presidential Selection Committees and nowhere did I see a more succinct and stimulating statement about a job or an institution."

Peter H. Armacost
President, Ottawa University

"Your letter and its enclosures attest to the clear insight you have not only for the man you want, but for the place of Whittier in this confusing world of higher education."

Arthur T. Thompson, Dean
College of Engineering
Boston University

"May I compliment you on the skill with which you have prepared your Presidential Profile? I think it is the best I have ever read."

Curtis W. Tarr, Assistant Secretary
Department of the Air Force

". . . your most excellent 'presidential profile' is"

Dear Miss Woods:

Just a word of gratitude to tell you how very much I appreciated your usual quick and incisive help last Friday when we needed the President's OK on re-printing the 1968 preface to MY SIX CRISES. This will be a stimulating and most timely article for our readers, and we greatly appreciate the President's help, and yours, in making it available so graciously and promptly.

Sincerely,

As you will note from the attached letter, Jules Witcover is planning to do a book on your comeback.

When he called me I put him off with the excuse that I was very busy just now and asked him to send a letter telling exactly what it was he wanted to talk about.

I, personally, would hope that another writer would do this book but will do whatever you say about whether I talk with him at all or not.

Dear Rose:

It was good to talk with you today. The book I'm undertaking will seek to trace President Nixon's comeback starting in November, 1962, after the California gubernatorial race, his decision to move to New York, his law practice and foreign travels and his eventual return to political activity. What we're dealing with here is certainly one of the great political comebacks in American history, and I feel strongly that it be told in a comprehensive and objective way. Although much has been written about Mr. Nixon's activities from 1962 to 1968 in a general way, there still is remarkably little public awareness of what he was doing, what was on his mind, who were his friends, how he spent his time and energies, and finally how he responded when opportunity once again came his way.

Two things would be most helpful: if I could sit down with you and simply reminisce about some of those days, and if you could suggest names of others to whom I should talk here in Washington, in New York and in California. Our conversations would be on whatever basis you would prefer. For a start, I would be most interested in discussing with you that first period after the California race, the move to New York and the problems of settling into a new life and locale.

I'd like to phone you in a week or so, after you've had a chance to think back to that period a bit. I'm sure my questions can help provide some focus too.

Best regards,

Jules Witcover

Walter Trohan sp (Chicago Tribune) called

He said at the Chowder & Marching reception the President asked him to take Gerry Ford to the Bohemian Grove. He has arranged for an invitation to Gerry Ford to come from the Board of Directors of the Club and then they will get him in to the Cave Man Camp.

There is one problem in connection with the Bohemian Grove (wanted to tell you so you could talk with the President about it).

He says that Harvey Hancock has gone all over the Bohemian Club telling them what the President does or ~~xxxx~~ does not want -- changes his mind every now and then -- he tells them he has discussed this with the President which they do not believe.

The Board of Directors has appointed Herbert Hoover, Jr. to be the liaison between the President on any matters pertaining to the Club. Through him they will do anything that the President wants in any way. If there are any problems they will go through Hoover.

Mr. Hoover will be calling RMW about this himself but probably will not call until after Monday.

(Hoover is the Camp Captin and has appointed Trohan the Assistant Captain.

Dear Mr. President,

In accordance with the wish you expressed to me, I have arranged to have Gerald Ford as a guest at Caveman.

The magic of the White House works wonders with the Board of Directors of the Bohemian Club.

Incidentally, they are beset by our mutual friend, Harvey Hancock, with suggestions supposedly emanating from the White House. These are often contradictory.

So the Board has asked our Captain, Herbert Hoover Jr., to be the intermediary between the Board and the White House for anything you may want. They are prepared to do anything you wish.

Herb, who helped mightily on Gerry, has named me assistant Captain for Washington, so you may refer anyone or anything to me and be sure it will be advanced to proper channels.

The President

Dear Rose Mary,

I thought you might like to know, in order to pass on to the President, that Gerald Ford has turned down the invitation to Bohemian Grove. He was most grateful but has several speaking engagements and also expects to be in the midst of a battle for the legislative program.

I reported that Robert Finch had been invited before he was picked for the cabinet. By the way, the President should know, if he already doesn't Herbert Hoover Jr., is in trouble. His liver cancer returned. He underwent more surgery recently. He isn't making a secret of it, but he's not advertising it.

Dear Rose:

The enclosed letter is self-explanatory. I had sent one of the President's handkerchiefs to Mallorca and apparently, they are unable to do the work.

I am trying another source and will be in touch.

Dear Mr. Roepke:

I want you to know how grateful I am for your willingness to donate the original of the news release of October 25, 1962 to the Nixon Library. You were most enterprising to retrieve this paper after the rally in San Mateo, and I can assure you that it will be a valued addition to the other papers which are being collected and catalogued for inclusion in the Library.

Miss Woods has given me an opportunity to read your letter to her of October 15, and your words of confidence and support are deeply appreciated. I only hope my course of action in the months ahead will continue to merit your approval.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

FOR FLAT AM RELEASE
October 26, 1962

We are living in a moment of great crisis for the United States and the world. The times call for calm, strong, forceful leadership by all persons in positions of authority.

The Cuban situation now transcends partisan debate. Whatever arguments may have been, now that the course of action has been decided, now that the prestige of the United States has been committed, we must speak with one voice to the world.

It is easy to become uninformed, emotional, excited and start runs on gasoline stations and grocery stores. But we must not panic. We must keep our heads, for you can be sure Khrushchev is watching how Americans react. If we can't take it, he will provoke us all the more.

While the situation is grave and involves serious risks, we must view it calmly and in perspective. Clearly the President could not have acted otherwise. He deserves our full support. For to have Castro controlling powerful weapons of destruction would be a frightful thing. Castro, compared to Khrushchev, is a madman.

I know Khrushchev. He is not a man who is a slave to his passions. He uses rather than loses his temper. And he will not risk Moscow to save Havana.

war, but defeat without war. Forty-five years ago, communism was a cellar conspiracy. Now, through revolution, subversion and coup d'etat, the Communists control one-third of the world.

Communists look at the world in terms of a century and they are willing to wait. They think they are strong and we are soft. But the greater likelihood is that when Khrushchev is put to the point of no return, he will back down.

⑤ Americans must accept the cold war as a way of life. Today the battle-front is Cuba. Tomorrow it may be Southeast Asia or Berlin.

One of the great marks of America is that we have never in our history discontinued political discussion, even when we have been at war. For us to follow any other practice, especially when not at war, would be out of character with the American tradition.

This is a time for us to strengthen our understanding and devotion to our own ideals.

We must not play the Communists' game -- either out of fear or ignorance. When our beliefs in free enterprise, decentralized government, voluntary action and open political debate can keep us free and alive, those who ~~really~~ rally to the banner of "Better Red than Dead" are either fools or cowards.
