PROCEDURES FOR PACKAGES AND GIFTS FOR
SEARCHLIGHT # 1, 2, 3 AND 4 IN NEW YORK CITY

All packages and gifts for Searchlight # 1, 2, 3 and 4 should be sent to Nixon Headquarters, 450 Park Avenue, New York City, New York, for processing.

The processing should consist of examination by fluoroscope, or opening of the package by a Secret Service representative.

All packages, gifts examined by a Secret Service representative are to be logged in the package examination log book.

Packages and gifts should not be opened unless it is necessary to determine that the package is of no harm to the principals.

The gifts and packages intended for Searchlight # 1, 2 and 3 will then be stored for later delivery to the White House.

The packages and gifts intended for Searchlight # 4 should be set aside in the designated area where they will be regularly picked up by Manolo Sanchez and taken to 810 Fifth Avenue for delivery to Searchlight # 4.

No perishable items should be kept or delivered to any of the principals.

The Nixon Staff is not required to open any of the gifts or packages for the above principals. Their procedure is to identify the sender and send an acknowledgment note to the effect that the gift has been received and will be sent to the White House at a later date for further processing. If a package or gift is received and the Secret Service representative determines through fluoroscopic examination that it is not of danger to the people at 450 Park Avenue or any of our principals, and it is not possible to determine who the sender is, then it is the responsibility of the Nixon Staff to open the package in order to determine the sender.

Dear Miss Woods,

I hope you dont mind if I write to you, once in a while and give you a report on how people feel about 'The President'. So far in his appointments he has done fine.
As I told you in my other letter
I could not come back there for the inauguration, but I wonder if it would be possible for me to have an invitation for a

MEMORANDUM

TO: Gerry Van der Heuvel
Cassie Thompson

FROM: Rose Mary Woods

Former Congresswoman Katharine St. George who is now active with the Women's National Republican Club in New York is most anxious to have Mrs. Nixon accept a special Citation at their annual award luncheon on January 25, 1968. If at all possible they would like to have her there to accept in person but if not would like to have Tricia come and accept it in her place.

They are going to try to get Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower (who was the recipient last year) to present the citation to Mrs. Nixon. (David Eisenhower accepted the citation for his Grandmother last year -- all of the Nixons were there -- and the President Elect spoke.)

Needless to say, they are still trying to work out something so that RN would at least do a drop by but I do not think there is any chance of that.

Patty Lasky called to say that she had been approached by a publisher to do a book on you. She was calling here to ask whether you would consider allowing her to do one. We, of course, could be sure it would be a warm, friendly book as Patty is one of your greatest fans.

She said this would not take any of your time right now -- she would go to work on research, clips, etc. and then later on would have to have some time with you.

Please advise.

MEMORANDUM

TO: DC

FROM: Ken Khachigian

For the telethon if RN is asked some questions on what his leadership will bring to America, I suggest an approach which might tie together the efforts of the campaign.

If RN's candidacy has meant anything, it has been that the U. S. must be restored to her past heights. There has to be a restoration of faith in America's people and institutions. The touchstone of a Nixon Administration will be a "renewal of faith."

For young people who are disenchanted, their faith must be renewed in the viability of "the system." For the blacks and the poor, we must help restore faith in progress by peaceful evolution. Abroad, the world's faith must be renewed in our goodwill and the need for a meaningful security. For the forgotten Americans, RN will renew faith in America's greatness and how that greatness was carefully built by the people who have since become forgotten.

The theme -- "A Renewal of Faith"--- embodies the whole spectrum of what RN will bring to his Administration. It is the warp and woof of the campaign. To renew faith in our country is the call to a change to all that is good in the society.

(Anderson)

Mr. Nixon: Senator Eugene McCarthy has recently endorsed Hubert Humphrey. What impact do you think this will have on the election?

Well, I have always admired Senator McCarthy for his candor. Yesterday, while speaking at Portland State College in Oregon, he said, "I made the switch to Humphrey, and I think the rest of you ought to suffer with me."

I think the people of this country have suffered with Mr. Humphrey and the kind of leadership he offers the nation. Four years is long enough.

Senator McCarthy may be suffering because he switched to Humphrey, but I don't think the rest of the country is going to suffer along with him.

RE: Operation Extra Effort - Conceived in the mind of the Candidate and dedicated to the proposition that there is a dime's worth of difference.

When a fourth-rate political hack like Hubert Humphrey can seize RN's marginal positions on the high issues, then, we think, it's time for Extra Effort.

Some of the media have gone too far in attempting to weaken the Nixon forces as against the Humphrey forces.

But we say this to you: Let the time never come when those who do research for a Democrat can work faster than those who do research for a Republican.

The balance of power must always be tipped in RN's favor. Here are 227 reasons why, suitably bound and specially titled.

Edward C. Nixon

Hon. Richard M. Nixon
Key Biscayne, Florida

October 9, 1968

Dear Mr. Nixon:

There are three messages that I was asked to relay to you and, since Manolo mentioned he was going to Key Biscayne, I hope you won't mind my taking the liberty of giving this note to him.

Mrs. Rudy Vallee called from L. A. this afternoon to tell me about a "WOMEN FOR NIXON" luncheon that she and Sybel Brand are co-hosting on Monday, October 14th from 1PM to 4 PM.

Mrs. Vallee asked if it would be possible for you to send a night letter Sunday, October 13th, to be delivered during the luncheon, signed by you and Mrs. Nixon, wishing them well or some such thing.

Mayor Yorty called this afternoon and asked me to relay this message to you. Dr. A. Hammer would like to know if there are any Senators you would like to help, and he would let them know that it came through your suggestion.

Also the Mayor called a second time to mention a conversation he had with you about the more visual usage of TV media. He mentioned the benefit of a large map, particularly of Southeast Asia, that could be made available to you. His Honor went into some detail about how this could be used to explain the importance of maintaining communications throughout the world, what is meant by sea and air lanes, and refueling bases, and what has happened since the British left the Suez, pointing out what this country is deficient in (metals and fuels), and where they come from, etc. etc. And how verbally and visually this could be made interesting.

The Mayor also mentioned the use of an inflation chart for the wage earner to see what has happened to the dollar.

Both sound like excellent ideas, and should you want to avail yourself of them, we can proceed on this end to secure a proper map and an inflation chart...unless we hear to the contrary.

Hon. Richard M. Nixon

Enclosed is a clipping from the Post about your brother who is the best liked person at headquarters. Gaye didn't like the caption, but I think it is very simpatico.

Just watched you on the CBS question and answer ad, and we all thought it was very good. Got a big laugh on your line about, "I'm glad George Ball resigned, because I was thinking of changing him anyway."

The day Mr. Ball made his outrageous remarks, I was so enraged I wrote a long and tedious poem---which I won't bore you with, except one line:

" So when you call Dick tricky, better say it with some pride"

" For only a magician could save this country's hide."

Everything is fine back at the ranch and everywhere we go we hear, "Nixon, Nixon, Nixon, the next President", which makes all of us very happy.

Every good wish,

Ann Duggan

MR. NIXON: What is your program for black Americans?

First, I intend to begin this Administration by telling black Americans and the rest of Americans the truth -- by declaring a moratorium on false promises and pie-in-the-sky pledges. These are the things responsible for the current disillusionment in the ghettos of America, in my view.

Secondly, I am going to propose new programs the purpose of which will be to get people off welfare rolls and onto payrolls in this country. The Welfare State of Mr. Humphrey is old and obsolete; it is not good enough for the New Society.

Third, I intend to propose programs whereby it will be easier for black Americans and Mexican Americans and other groups in this country who have been blocked off from opportunity -- to enable them to move off the payrolls into the offices of management -- as owners and businessmen in their own right.

Now, let me make this clear. We are not going to have overnight harmony and prosperity in the Negro Community. But we are going to have progress and it's going to be in the right direction. And we are going to have an Administration that is willing to listen to the justified complaints of black America, an Administration whose heart is in the right place, an Administration that is going to be tough and firm in many things -- but an Administration that will be compassionate. There is no conflict between justice and order in this country. In my view, they are complimentary.

MR. NIXON: What can a President do about crime in the streets of this country? Law enforcement is essentially a local problem.

Yes, it is a local problem -- but it is also a national crisis. And a President can do many things. He can give the moral leadership that this country hasn't had in recent years in the war against crime. He can put priority in legislation going up to the Hill on crime control measures that haven't been gotten the priority they deserve. He can appoint an Attorney General who will be an aggressive general in the war against crime and not a conscientious objector. He can name to the United States Supreme Court men who understand just what is happening to the security on the streets of this country, who will recognize that the millions of victims of this country have rights just as the criminals do. If you want to see what a President can accomplish to bring peace and security to the streets and cities of America -- I suggest you elect me and you'll find out -- Give us the mandate and we shall do the job.

MR. NIXON: What do you consider the most important issue of the 1968 election? Vietnam or Law and Order? And which one should the people vote on?

The most basic issue is even more overriding than that. It is the question of whether the United States can continue for four more years with the men who have sat while peace collapsed in the United States, while security disappeared from our cities and streets. A choice between men who have for four years been unable to bring an honorable end to the war in Vietnam. A choice between that and new leadership. A new coalition of Republicans and Democrats and Independents is desperately needed, in my view, to lead this country out of the current crisis. That is the issue. Whether the men responsible for America's problems, the men who couldn't solve them should be given another four years. I don't think their record shows America can afford them for four more years. That is the issue -- more of the same or a new beginning in dealing with these crises.

November 4, 1968

MEMORANDUM

TO: DC

FROM: Buchanan

RE: Gut Lines to Hit

George Wallace, if the polls are right, may be the man who re-elected this Administration. It is a choice between Nixon and Humphrey. Those who vote for Wallace let others make that choice. They protest this Administration; but they are taking the risk of letting other re-elect it.

Narcotics and pronography are two areas where the Federal Government can move to protect the children of this country -- and we are going to start moving in these areas just as soon as we win this election.

The parents of Catholic and Protestant and Jewish children who save the taxpayers dollars by educating their own children are doing a national service -- and it is time in my view that government at every level recognized that service.

The basic issue in this election is can we survive four more years of the kind of leadership that has plagued this country the last four years. When voters step into that booth -- ask themselves do we need a change from what we have had. You will not get a change by voting for this man of this Administration, this man of the past.

The men who could not keep order in their own convention in Chicago cannot bring order to the cities of America. The men who could not even unite their own party cannot unite the American people. That is why we must have new leadership.

On gun control, my opponent Mr. Humphrey as always seeks to have a massive new bureaucracy created to register and locate every gun in the country and keep the files in Washington. I think that the states have responsibility here as elsewhere; and that is why I favor this function, like other functions, to the states. There is a difference between California and Colorado in terms of need for gun registration, and I think that California and Colorado should make that decision.

(Safire)

POPULAR VOTE

Mr. Nixon: Suppose nobody wins on Tuesday, Will you try to engineer a deal in the House of Representatives?

Absolutely not. There can't be any "deals" for the Presidency.

But the problem is even bigger than this. We've got to recognize that if there were no clear-cut decision by the voters tomorrow, America would be thrown into one of the worst constitutional crises in its history.

In the condition it's in today, America can't afford that kind of a crisis.

That's why I've pledged in advance that if there were no decision on election day, I would support for the Presidency the man who receives the greatest number of popular votes -- whoever, that is. I've challenged Mr. Humphrey to put country above personal ambition, and join me in that pledge. On television yesterday, he flatly refused. And I'll tell you why: it's because his whole strategy is based on the hope that he can exploit the third-party candidacy to gain the Presidency without winning the election. He hopes that George Wallace will get enough votes so that he -- Humphrey -- can lose the election, and still deal his way into the Presidency in the House of Representatives.

I say that a President chosen in that manner couldn't govern the country. We can't afford four years of a man without a mandate -- especially at a time like this, when the first need is to pull a bitterly divided country together again.

Since Mr. Humphrey has said flatly that he refuses to abide by the judgment of the people, I say that he doesn't deserve the trust of the people.

NOTE: This is carefully couched so that the pledge does not apply if RN comes in second in popular vote but wins a majority of the electoral vote.

(Safire)

VIET NAM

Mr. Nixon:           What would you do if South Vietnam continues to refuse to join the Paris talks?

                  First, I hope the South Vietnamese will change their minds and agree to go to Paris. We have to recognize that there are some very difficult questions to be worked out about the precise relationships if both they and the Viet Cong -- the National Liberation Front -- are present at the same talks. The South Vietnamese understandably don't want the talks to be a precedent for imposing a coalition government on South Vietnam; if this happened, it would only be a way-station on the way to a complete Communist take-over, and from our standpoint we'd be throwing away all that our men in Vietnam have fought to achieve.

                  I'm sure that when he agreed to stop the bombing, President Johnson expected the South Vietnamese to participate in the talks. If he didn't, he would have been playing our side's trump card for nothing. I have offered, after the election, if I am elected, to go to either Paris or Saigon if the President and the Secretary of State think it would be helpful, in order to speed the process of agreement.

                  Nothing has higher priority than bringing this war to a swift and honorable end. And I will do everything possible to help President Johnson move the conflict toward peaceful settlement during the remainder of his term in office. By showing a united front here at home, we can persuade Hanoi that it has nothing to gain by waiting for a new Administration to take office next January.

From the start of this campaign, I have made it clear that, as far as I was concerned, the pursuit of peace was beyond politics. I have felt that the best thing I could do, as a candidate, to help speed a settlement of the war was to give my full support to the President in whatever moves he might make to help bring about peace, so that the men in Hanoi would have no hope that they could profit from partisan division here in the United States.

This has been the responsible way. It may not have been the most exciting way. But in the long run, whatever effect it may have had on tomorrow's election, I am convinced that history will judge it to have been the way that contributed most to the actual achievement of peace.

Here is your copy of the NIXON SOURCEBOOK. Let me explain that while you are the last one to receive a copy, I didn't feel you would need a reference during the campaign! The 150 others -- surrogates, state chairmen and key staff members -- did need to be informed on your position on the different issues.

I'm sure you'll notice immediately that many issues you've covered are not in the SOURCEBOOK. The reason is that I had to stop production on it for the last five weeks of the campaign, and you've been covering many issues in these weeks. In fact, I've regretted that I couldn't include everything because the SOURCEBOOK would be so well filled out.

I joined your campaign in March, and it has honestly been an experience and an honor that I'll never forget.

Good luck!

Law:

Leadership that believe in law + law cause to respect
... .. justice is determined to <sup>protect</sup> ~~grant~~ it
... .. program. Know how to implement it.

We shall listen to people:

- ① Not just the clamorous voice of majority -
- ② but the quiet voice - the inner voice -
- that speak through the silence - that speak from the heart & conscience
- ③ People will not have to break law to be great quiet forgotten majority

History can bestow no greater honor than duty to be peaceable.

① This duty becham America -

② We have power - + we have the coalition.

I ask you to join me ~~is~~ not in doing something for your country but in doing something with your country.

① I ask not for your gift but your hands -

(The American Dream shall be fulfilled at least in duty of <sup>peace</sup> ~~power~~)

Put us against the ~~most~~ challenge with a sense of the majesty of the moment.

① accept challenge - not as a burden - or fear -
