

be more free and frank discussion under such circumstances, and of course the groups would be smaller. This suggestion is made, however, under the assumption that all the attention would not wind up being given to the other body.

I hope these thoughts will prove helpful to you.

Warm personal regards,

Gerald R. Ford, M. C.

GRF:rn